

Collaborative Professional Development

Fremont County School District #1, Lander, Wyoming will host the new state Formative Assessment Institute. Two cohorts will be trained over a three year period. The institute will provide training for teachers serving students in grades K-12, instructional facilitators, and principals in a collaborative format. This training is specifically for building leadership teams interested in increasing knowledge of the use in formative assessment techniques and strategies. Cohort I will begin in September, 2007 and Cohort II will begin professional development in September, 2008.

Professional Development for:
Teachers
Instructional Facilitators
Principals

Cohort I Fall 2007-Spring 2009
Cohort II Fall 2008-Spring 2010

“Formative assessment is a process used by teachers and students during instruction that provides feedback to adjust ongoing teaching and learning to improve students’ achievement of intended instructional outcomes.”

Council of Chief State
School Officers
October, 2006

GOALS FOR THE FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT INSTITUTE

1. Understand the nature of formative assessment;
2. Provide comprehensive training in the use of formative assessment evidence-gathering tools;
3. Provide teachers with the skills linked to the PAWS assessment descriptors to improve teaching and learning;
4. Increase educators’ knowledge of assessment literacy across Wyoming with an emphasis on formative assessment;
5. Develop building leadership teams to serve as support in implementing formative assessment to inform instructional practices;
6. Build capacity among building leaders (principals and instructional facilitators) to implement, monitor, and sustain formative assessment as an instructional strategy tool.

TRAINING

The institute will provide training for building leadership teams based on professional learning community skills. Break-out sessions will be incorporated to meet specific needs for principals and instructional facilitators to assist teachers with implementation of formative assessment tools. Each cohort will receive 18 days of free training over a two year period.

When formative assessment strategies are used correctly, understood, and supported students will demonstrate significant gains in achievement, motivation, and self-efficacy. Teachers will find more job satisfaction, increase professional competence, and demonstrate leadership (CCSSO, 2007).
